Simhat Torah Honorees: Dennis M. Karr and Susan M. Lincoln

At the beginning of each New Year, during the Festival of Simhat Torah, it is customary for a congregation to honor two members who have made significant contributions to either synagogue life and/or the Jewish community. In keeping with this Jewish tradition, this year, during the Simhat Torah service on Tuesday morning, October 13, 1998, the Park Avenue Synagogue will honor two such special congregants: Dennis M. Karr and Susan M. Lincoln.

Dennis Karr will be called to the Torah as Hatan Torah, while Susan Lincoln will be called to the Torah as Kallah Bereshit.

Following the service which begins at 9:15 A.M., the entire congregation will be invited to a buffet luncheon and reception on the Lower Level in honor of these two honorees and their families.

Dennis M. Karr

Dennis and his wife, Gail, have been members of the Park Avenue Synagogue for the past 18 years. They were married at the synagogue in December, 1979, and, a few years later, their son, Justin, whom we have watched grow up to be such a fine young man, was almost born at a Friday night service on a cold winter's night.

Since then, Dennis has been actively involved in the life of our congregation in many ways. He has served on Park Avenue Synagogue's Board of Trustees and its Advisory Board for over ten years and has been a member of the School Board and of the synagogue's Ritual Committee.

He grew up in the small resort town of Putnam Valley, New York, where there were only six Jewish families among the about 200 year-round residents. The Jewish children travelled eight miles to attend the Hebrew school of the Conservative congregation in the area.

Dennis M. Karr

When his family moved to New York City, he attended The Bronx High School of Science, followed by The University of Rochester, where he obtained his bachelor's degree, and later, The Graduate School of Public Administration of New York University, from which he earned his master's degree.

Dennis is presently a senior vice president of Harper-Lawrence, Inc., a privately held commercial real estate firm formed in 1979. He works in the firm's midtown New York office, where he is a specialist in corporate leasing and sales, with representation of tenants as his specialty.

Prior to joining Harper-Lawrence, he was a partner and director of the midtown leasing department of Jones Lang Wootton, an international real estate consulting firm, where he was in charge of coordinating leasing assignments between the United States and the firm's international offices. He held a similar position with William White/Grubb & Ellis and, afterwards, was director of leasing for Metrotech, a 4-million square foot office complex in downtown Brooklyn.

Generally speaking, Dennis has been responsible for the leasing of some of the highest profile buildings in New York City, and for representing top national and international corporations and institutions.

Susan M. Lincoln

He is a former chairman of the Young Men's/Women's Real Estate Association, and has been active in such civic and professional groups as The Real Estate Board of New York, for which he sits on various rental condition committees. He is also a participant in The Speaker's Bureau, which addresses items of concern to government and the community at large. As such, he is a frequent speaker for The Real Estate Board and for other professional group luncheons and seminars. Moreover, he created and taught a course: "Analyzing Lease Transactions" at NYU's Real Estate Institute and is one of the founders and a past president of the Real Estate and Construction Industry Division of ORT.

Known by his soft-spoken and "statesmanlike" bearing, Dennis "loves the Park Avenue Synagogue for the Jewish values and education it imparts, for the sense of community he feels, and for the important part that it has had in his family's life" since the day he and Gail were married here.

We are proud to honor him as Hatan Torah this Simhat Torah. We hope that he, Gail and Justin will continue their involvement with us in the years ahead.

FROM THE

Rabbi's Desk

I just read Rabbi Zaiman's farewell message and was moved by the warm introduction she gave me. It is a pleasure and honor to follow in the footsteps of a rabbi so beloved.

I would like to tell you how I made the decision to become a rabbi and what, for me, the title entails.

After enjoying the Jewish holidays, hating Hebrew school, and thinking Judaism was for kids-for that was the only chance I had given it-I learned how to read Torah and Haf-tarah with Rabbi Sally Finestone at Harvard Hillel. Feeling then like an insider, I began to attend services, finding that the more I learned, the more meaningful everything became. A lover of languages, I set out to

October B'not Mitzvah

Stephanie Ora Lemor
October 10, 1998

Stephanie Lemor was born in 1985 and has been a student at the Park Avenue Synagogue religious school since kindergarten.

She is in the eighth grade at the Hewitt School, where, during the 1997-1998 school year, she was elected by her peers to be head of community service for the middle school. That year, she received the school's community service award and also the middle school's science award.

Stephanie is a cello player and a student at the Diller Quaile School of Music. She also loves to read and to travel. She has visited Israel, Brazil, France, Canada and Egypt.

Melissa Raquel Constantiner
October 17, 1998

Melissa Constantiner turned 13 on August 25. She is in the eighth grade at the Columbia Grammar and Prep School where she is involved in many extra-curricular activities and served as her class representative in student government last year. She is also on the Varsity swim team.

She has attended the Park Avenue Synagogue religious school since kindergarten.

Melissa spent this past summer at Camp Vega in Kent Hills, Maine where she participated in her favorite sports, trick-skiing and basketball. She also enjoys gymnastics and hip-hop.

She has been to Israel twice and often visits her father's family in Mexico City.

Caroline Weinstein
October 31, 1998

Caroline Weinstein celebrated her 13th birthday on September 12th. She is a native New Yorker and lives with her father, Edward, on East 86th Street.

Caroline is in the eighth grade at The Birch Wathen Lenox School on East 77th Street. She has attended the Park Avenue Synagogue religious school for ten years.

Among her many interests are rollerblading and computers. Caroline has been an avid rollerblader since she was eight years old. She also spends her free time communicating with her many friends on-line, including one friend who lives as far away as Seoul, Korea. She counts among her very best friends, Natie, her Tibetan terrier.

privileged to have Susan Lincoln as an actively involved member of both our congregation and the Jewish community for the past eleven years. As everyone knows, she is the wife of Rabbi David H. Lincoln, our senior rabbi.

Susan was born and educated in London, England. She attended business school in London before marrying David Lincoln. From London, they moved to Portsmouth, on the south coast of England, where Rabbi Lincoln had his first pulpit and Sara Lincoln arrived.

While in London, Susan worked in fund-raising for the Jewish Blind Society, where she coordinated all major fund-raising projects for the organization.

In 1967, Susan, her husband, and Sara crossed the Atlantic and moved to Kansas City, Missouri, where Rabbi Lincoln had his first U.S. pulpit position and Simon Lincoln joined the family.

After two years in Kansas City, in 1970, they moved to Chicago, Illinois, where Rabbi Lincoln served a Conservative congregation for 18 years. It was there that Jonathan Lincoln was born and that they reared their family before coming to the Park Avenue Synagogue in 1987.

While in the Chicago area, Susan served as chairperson of the Sisterhood's Torah Fund, organized annual luncheons, fund-raising and educational programs for the Jewish Theological Seminary, served in the Parents' Organization of the Solomon Schechter Day School, and helped to form a Jewish singles group, "The Network".

Here in New York City, Susan is a real estate broker with the Halstead Property Company.

When Jonathan attended the Ramaz Day School here in Manhattan, she served on the school's Junior High Parents' Liaison Committee.

She also does volunteer work for UJA-Federation's Jewish Information and Referral Service and has chaired a committee to compile a brochure which lists activities and services for physically disabled Jewish people.

For the past eleven years, Susan has enjoyed virtually all of the varied activities of the Park Avenue Synagogue. In addition to being a charming and gracious hostess on our behalf, she has served on the Park Avenue Synagogue Family Education Committee and on the Tikkun Olam Committee for Community Outreach. And she has done so with her own special blend of quiet dignity, warmth, sincerity and concern for the well-being of our communal family.

While she is very modest about the role she has shared with Rabbi Lincoln on behalf of our congregation over the years, she is, justifiably so, somewhat less modest about their three children and two grandchildren. Sara graduated from the University of Wisconsin and then worked as a researcher at the Anti-Defamation League in New York. She was married to Isaac Marrache at Park Avenue Synagogue in 1991. Sara and Isaac live in London with their two lovely children, Natasha learn Hebrew, and the prayers came alive. A visit to Israel bolstered my pride in my identity, the young state, and our ancient heritage.

After my first Torah reading, Rabbi Finestone said, "now that you know how to read Torah, we'll ask you for the High Holidays." They did. Sitting up there on the bimah, despite the crowds, I did not feel nervous. I felt very natural, as if that were what I was meant to be doing. Discussions with Rabbi Finestone confirmed that the rabbinate meant being a teacher, a role model, a spiritual leader, a counsellor: in short, a life of variety and challenge which would never leave me bored. Some months later, I sent in my application to rabbinical school and embarked on a path that I have never regretted.

What does it mean to be a rabbi? The etymology of the word reveals some fascinating insights.

The word "rabbi" means, first and foremost, teacher. One who is privileged to study Torah, Talmud, Halacha (Jewish law), philosophy, history and more; is obligated to pass on the learning in every possible forum.

The root, rab, or rav, also means "much, many, numerous, large, strong, poly-". Rabbis ought to be multi-talented, endlessly patient, full of love for every soul we encounter, and strong enough to deal with the crises through which people lean on us for support.

Interestingly, "rav" also means "fight or dispute." A rabbi has to be willing to set limits, make difficult decisions and sometimes be unpopular, if it is "for the sake of heaven."

Finally, the "i" in "rabbi" means "my:" my teacher. Ideally, each Jew would have a rabbi who knows and understands his or her particular personality, circumstances and spiritual quest.

I look forward to meeting each one of you and to being your rabbi, along with Rabbi Lincoln and Rabbi Stern. My only hope is that you avail yourselves of our accessibility and our knowledge, and, by being interested congregants, enable us to be, to our fullest potential, rabbis.

— Rabbi Miriam C. Berkowitz

All About Sukkot and Simhat Torah

The festival of Sukkot derives its name from the sukkah, the temporary dwelling or booth built especially for the holiday. Says the Book of Leviticus: "I did cause the children of Israel to dwell in booths when I brought them out of the Land of Egypt." The sukkah is, therefore, a reminder to all generations of God's redemption of the Jewish people from Egyptian slavery.

Sukkot is also a festival of thanksgiving for the final ingathering of the harvest in the Land of Israel. Some of its symbols clearly recall the Land and its produce.

The four minim, or species, consist of an etrog, a lulav, myrtles and willows. The lulav is a branch of the palm tree and is bound together with three short branches of myrtle leaves (hadasim) and two branches of the willow tree (aravot). The etrog looks like a large lemon, but it smells and tastes much sweeter. It has a pitom, a small protuberance, at its end.

The rabbis teach that binding these different species together serves as an example to us of how all Jews, different though we may be from one another, must be bound together into one unit.

A blessing is said over the minim at two points in the morning service, during Hallel, right after the morning Amidah, and during Hoshanot, each day of the holiday when we march around the synagogue with them in a magnificent procession, except on Shabbat.

The festival of Sukkot begins on the 15th day of Tishri and the first two days are observed as major festival days. The next five days are Hol Hamoed, the Intermediate Days of the festival. These days are half-holidays, for while most labor is permitted, except, of course, on the Sabbath, we continue to eat meals in the sukkah and to make the blessings over the four minim, waving them during the recitation of the Hallel and when marching with them during the hymns (Hoshanot).

At Park Avenue Synagogue, our Ritter Sukkah, named in memory of Gerald and May Ellen Ritter, is constructed on the roof and decorated by the Parents' Association.

A kiddush takes place in the Ritter Sukkah following every service during Sukkot and dinner is served there almost every night of Sukkot.

The eighth day of Sukkot is treated as a separate holiday in and of itself and is called Shemini Atzeret, the "Eighth Day of Assembly." We no longer eat in the sukkah and in Israel prayers for rain are recited during the service. The Yizkor Memorial Prayers are also recited on Shemini Atzeret.

Then, Shemini Atzeret is followed by the joyous festival of Simhat Torah, the "Rejoicing of Torah." It is during the morning service on Simhat Torah that the last verse and the first verse of the Torah are read, a bold demonstration of our belief that the study of Torah is never-ending. We march joyfully in hakafot (processions) in which we carry the Scrolls of the Law. At this service two of our congregants are honored for their contributions to the synagogue and to the Jewish community.

Park Avenue Synagogue Youth Chorale

The Park Avenue Synagogue Youth Chorale, which had its debut this past June, 1998 for the Cantors Assembly Jubilee Celebration, has lofty goals this season. The Chorale is open to our congregation's young people in the middle school and high school. Rehearsals will take place on Wednesdays from 6 to 6:45 P.M.

Under the direction of our cantors, the Youth Chorale will perform as part of the 55th Annual Friday Evening Music Service on December 11, 1998 and in a gala performance on Sunday, March 14, 1999. Other venues will be announced at a later date.

The enthusiastic and talented members of the Youth Chorale first met to rehearse with Cantors David Lefkowitz and Nancy Abramson at the end of April, and, barely a month late, sang with guest cantors at both a gala Shabbat Eve Service and a Concert Maariv. The latter was filmed by ABC television for a highly acclaimed one-hour, pre-holiday special that was viewed last month, just prior to Rosh Hashanah, by 150 stations throughout the entire country!

The purpose of our Youth Chorale is to engender a love for and understanding of the music of our people. The children will be learning great Jewish music from the past, as well as compositions in contemporary idioms. Any student in grades 6 through high school is welcome to call Cantor Abramson for more information.

Simon Lincoln is a graduate of Cornell University and the Fordham University Law School. He currently practices law in New York City.

Jonathan Lincoln is also a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. This past year, he worked as a research assistant at the Washington Institute for Near East Policy in Washington, D.C. and will be going to Yemen to study Arabic this October.

It is with great pride that the Park Avenue Synagogue will honor Susan Lincoln as Kallah Bereshit on Simhat Torah. It will do so with appreciation for her own significant contributions to our Jewish way of life along the adventurous journey that she has shared with her husband, Rabbi David H. Lincoln.

Bar/Bat Mitzvah Anniversary Celebrations at Havurah Services

Every Bar/Bat Mitzvah is invited to celebrate the first anniversary of that milestone event in their lives by accepting an aliyah in the Main Sanctuary.

From the second anniversary on, our youngsters will be invited to chant their Hafтарah once again or to read from the Torah at the twice a month Havurah services.

If your son or daughter is interested in participating in the Havurah Service in this way, please call Rabbi Stern and give him the name of the Sidra/Parashah (and special Haftarah, if any) for the Shabbat on which your youngster's ceremony took place. This information appears on the Bar/Bat Mitzvah certificate.

This is a wonderful way for him or her to remember and celebrate one of the most memorable events in his or her life!

A Reminder!

Please remember to notify the business office of the synagogue with any changes either in your home or business address and/or your home or business telephone number.

Mark Your Calendars! MITZVAH SUNDAY IV November 15

Please mark your calendars for and plan to attend MITZVAH SUNDAY IV at Park Avenue Synagogue with your families and friends. Another exciting day filled with the opportunity to perform good deeds for the community and yourselves is being planned.

In the meantime, please remember to collect: clothing, toys and games, books, household goods, bric-a-brac, sports equipment, unopened cosmetics, healthcare products, canned goods, and other items suitable for distribution to numerous charitable organizations or for sale in the Parents' Association's Flea Market.

Volunteers are needed to pre-register for the Blood Drive, one of the most important segments of this annual Mitzvah Day, as well as for all other activities. Further details will follow.

If you have any questions or to volunteer, please call either Susan Silverman at 534-0652 or Ellen Harrow at 628-8903.

 UJA-FEDERATION OF NEW YORK

Spotlight on the Solomon Schechter High School of New York

When the Solomon Schechter High School (SSHS) of New York opened its doors in 1992, it proudly became the Conservative movement's first egalitarian high school in Manhattan. SSHS attracts students from the five boroughs, Westchester, Rockland and Bergen counties and families with a wide range of Jewish backgrounds, practices and beliefs, including those with no prior formal Jewish education. Flexible groupings in Hebrew and Judaic studies accommodate all levels of knowledge. SSHS is the "laboratory school" of the Jewish Theological Seminary's Davidson School of Education and maintains a close association with the seminary. SSHS has a needs blind admission policy and provides scholarship assistance.

In addition to offering its students a challenging college preparatory program, SSHS also engages students in the study of Torah and the history of the Jewish people and strives to infuse its students with a deep love of the State of Israel. Hebrew is taught as both a living language and as the historic language of the Torah, Talmud, liturgy, and exegetical texts. Students, taught in small classes by a gifted faculty, many of whom are also members of the seminary's faculty, benefit from the personal relationships afforded by the low faculty-student ratio.

Daily prayer, the observance of mitzvot and the commitment to tikkun olam are central to the life of the school. SSHS is devoted to equal participation of young men and women in all aspects of the school's religious, intellectual and communal life.

SSHS graduated its first class in 1996. Its graduates have been accepted at numerous outstanding colleges and universities, including: Columbia, Brandeis, NYU, Sarah Lawrence, University of Rochester, George Washington, Yeshiva University, Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Boston University, Hampshire, Hofstra, Bard, many of the SUNY and CUNY schools and List College, the undergraduate school of JTS.

SSHS is thriving. It expects to double in size by the year 2000 and to have several hundred students enrolled by the year 2004. SSHS is presently engaged in negotiations for a new home on the Upper West Side.

SSHS students are excited about their education and their Judaism. They are prepared and motivated to be committed Jewish leaders in their colleges, local communities and Klal Yisrael. SSHS is proud to be creating a community devoted to life-long learning and gemilut chasadim.
